

Notice can be removed on this page.

Hello everyone - I added some citations and corrected previous citation title errors on this page - Multidimensional Poverty Index. I feel the notices on top are 6 years old and they can now be removed since the issue seems to be addressed. I would love to have some opinions on this. I didn't want to remove the notice without having some opinions. Thank you. ANLgrad (talk) 03:27, 9 August 2022 (UTC)

Removed the 2016 tags, as article length and referencing much improved since then. Article needs to be rated for class and importance.

David notMD (talk) 03:57, 9 August 2022 (UTC)

Thank you very much user: David notMD. Totally agree with you. If you need me to find more references, please let me know and I shall do that. ANLgrad (talk) 17:50, 9 August 2022 (UTC)

This article is not yet rated. As I know nothing about the topic, I will not do that. Improve it if you wish. David notMD (talk) 18:49, 9 August 2022 (UTC)

Sure, will do. ANLgrad (talk) 17:42, 11 August 2022 (UTC)

Article on British artist Dorothy Adamson (1893-1934)

I'd be grateful for some advice please. The artist Dorothy Adamson, who I believe is notable as she was a member of the Royal Institute of Oil Painters and Royal Institute of Painters in Water Colours) has not got an article in the English Wikipedia, but there is one on the Welsh Wikipedia https://cy.wikipedia.org/wiki/Dorothy_Adamson. The latter is very minimal and has the wrong birth date. I would like there to be an improved article about this artist but don't speak Welsh - although I could work with a family member who does. Adamson was born in England and spent most of her life there so does not have a strong Welsh connection, although she died in Wales. Should I seek to improve the Welsh article or to get approval for one in English Wikipedia? Thanks for any advice. Buckland1072 (talk) 12:37, 9 August 2022 (UTC)

@Buckland1072: Welcome to the Teahouse. The policies and guidelines differ between the Welsh and English Wikipedias; the biggest one is probably notability as Wikipedia defines it. If you wanted to properly create an article about her on here, you would need to find reliable, secondary sources to establish that. It's probably easier to improve the existing article on the Welsh Wikipedia.

--Tenryuu [?] < [?] * [?] > 13:05, 9 August 2022 (UTC)

Buckland1072 Of the four citations on the Welsh entry, the first doesn't mention her and two others I can reach via their URL merely show that she exists, with no significant coverage. English Wikipedia has pretty stringent notability requirements which unfortunately these references won't support. You will have to look for decent sources before you can draft an article here. Mike Turnbull (talk) 13:59, 9 August 2022 (UTC)

Thank you both very much. That's very helpful. In my research I haven't found very good published sources so she's probably not notable enough. Buckland1072 (talk) 15:37, 9 August 2022 (UTC)

Hello, Buckland1072. It's perhaps unfortunate that we use the word "notable" as it does not mean exactly the same as the normal understanding of the word. (For this reason, I try never to use the phrase "is/isn't notable", but rather "meets/doesn't meet Wikipedia's criteria for notability). One way of looking at the difference is to interpret it not as "worthy of note" but as "has been noted (by independent commentators in reliable sources). Another way of looking at it is to ask "is there enough independent material published to base an article on?", remembering that the material must have been published by somebody with a reputation for editorial control and fact checking, and that nothing said, written, or published by the subject or their associates contributes to this.

ColinFine (talk) 15:42, 9 August 2022 (UTC)

Thanks. That's a great way to think about notability and about the issues in a non-judgemental way. Buckland1072 (talk)
21:01, 11 August 2022 (UTC)

After a quick search [1] is the best ref I can find. It certainly by itself is probably not enough for an article. Maungapohatu (talk)
06:32, 10 August 2022 (UTC)

Thank you. I haven't really come across Google Books before and you are the second person to have suggested it in as many days, so I'm learning a lot. I will do some more research and think about where I might go with it depending on what I find. Grateful for all the help and suggestions received. Buckland1072 (talk) 21:06, 11 August 2022 (UTC)